ABOUT ME

" I'm a web developer with in-depth experience in many coding languages. In a nutshell, I create websites / app that help organizations address business challenges and meet their needs. i have worked on many mini projects in my college. My expertise lies within front-end web apps, and the main languages in my tech stack are JavaScript, Python, and of course HTML/CSS. I'm a lifelong learner (currently ,studying more coding languages along with working on a project!) and I love to read, sing, cycling and to play Pc games. Ideally, I want to honed and specialize my mobile app development skills and web development skills ,an area where I know your firm excels."
